Seattle Department of Human Resources

Susan McNab, Acting Director

December 10, 2018

Dear Mayor Durkan,

The adventure of leading the SDHR department over the last nine months has been an incredible journey and I thank you for allowing me to serve.

I've come to recognize that through the demands of the position, I have had to put my commitments and Board positions in community organizations on hold and I find that my heart and passions are truly there.

So, with regret, I am submitting my resignation to you effective January 23, 2019 as the Acting Head of SDHR.

I am recommending one of my current directors to DM Moseley as Interim while a search is conducted. The January date will accommodate personal needs she has at year end for leave.

There are a great number of projects in the works also, not the least of which is the fulfillment of the requirements of the Executive Order on Anti-Harassment. I will work with DM Moseley to establish priorities for accomplishment during these next weeks. I am committed to departing with clear plans in place for the candidate to begin work successfully as the new Director.

Finally, I would like to continue with the City as a contractor and believe I can continue to partner with you to bring about change and effectiveness. I would welcome guidance on how I can qualify for that work.

Again, thank you for the opportunity to serve. It has been an exciting experience.

Sincerely,

Susan McNab
